The Editor's Column

Streets

From Herb Caen's column, fun in the big town dept: "The little businessmen in a certain block on Ellis all park their cars on that street during the day—and they take turns going out with a little brush to wipe off the traffic cops' chalkmarks on the tires!"

Why can't we get that sort of cooperation on Dolores Street?

And speaking of streets, every third day some irate citizen calls at the Pine Cone office to enquire why don't we write an editorial about the blankety, blankety, lazy loafers in the street department who can't get around to cleaning up the streets any oftener than once a week. Bill Askew, street superintendent, says we don't have enough men to fill up the chuckholes around town and sweep the streets oftener than once a week, and the yowls about the chuckholes are louder and more frequent than about the dirt and litter. William says that to keep the streets decently clean he would have to hire more men in the street department which of course would cost money and raise taxes and nobody wants his taxes raised. So until somebody finds out some way so that the city can spend more money without collecting more from the citizens, we are not going to write an editorial about the condition of the streets, which are filthy!

Besides, we did write an editorial about the streets not so long ago, pointing out that there wouldn't be so much to sweep up if so much wasn't dropped in the streets in the first place, and that a lot of the papers were thrown in the gutter because there was no place else to put them. We suggested that the street department get the trash cans—they're attractive blue and grey jobs with waves painted on them—out of the city yard and back on the street. As yet, the response from the street department has been a deep silence.

One point by one Pine Cone subscriber was well taken this week. She said, let the street department forget the chuckholes until after the Centennial and jump in with all hands and clean up the town so that it will be a little more presentable when the Centennial crowds start sight-seeing on this side of the hill.

She thought the Boy Scouts might clean up the vacant lots, too. We do not advocate that. We suggest that the owners of the vacant lots clean them up or hire somebody to do it.

The light hearted manner in which adults think of kids first, when there is a dirty job to do does not strike a sympathetic chord with us. In the first place, the kids contribute no more to dirtying up the town than anyone else, and in the second place, our skin crawls when we see kids out on these clean-up jobs. We just don't like our young people picking up trash along the street—it's unsanitary.

Professionals use brooms, pointed sticks, gloves. Kids are turned loose with no other equipment than their hands.

—Wilma Cook

Formal possession of California became an historic fact July 7, 1846, when, by order of Commodore John D. Sloat, the American Flag was raised over the old Monterey Custom House. Off shore were anchored the USS Cyane and USS Savannah, commanded by Captain William Mervine. His force made what was probably the most peaceful landing and military occupation in history: not a shot was fired.

The above photo engraving is a reproduction of an oil painting made in 1901 by Coulter for Major Edwin Sherman's book on Commadore Sloat. Though inacurate in detail — the flag pole is on the wrong side of the building and there is not enough land space between the bay and the Custom House—it is interesting and colorful, the only painting of the historic event that shows the ships in the bay.

GETTING AROUND THE PENINSULA

WITH BETH

One hundred years ago, Carmel was a pine forest which sloped gently toward the sea. Her inhabitants were creatures of the forest, deer and foxes, an occasional bear, lions, wildcats, raccoons, quail and doves. These creatures were seldom disturbed by man, for there was good hunting much closer to Monterey. It was not until many years later that David Starr Jordan, walking through this forest, saw its possibilities as a town. Monterey, even with her lovely adobes and gay, carefree life, at times was made unbearable for her residents, by the stench of rotting whales. Carmel was far enough away to escape this. But at that, there were not more than two or three homes here before 1900. The creatures of the forest lived in timeless tranquility, unaware that, over the hill, on the seventh day of July, 1846, a gentleman by the name of Commodore Sloat was raising the flag of the United States.

Monterey was a village with winding roads for streets. Cattle roamed at large through the town. In the winter, the streets were knee deep in adobe mud. During the dry season, the ruts were treacherous enough to intimidate a mountain goat. There was a deep gulley running through the town, near what is now Walter Colton school and down past the Gragg adobe. Bridges covered the gulley, but unfortunately they were wiped out each winter during heavy storms.

An amusing story about early-day Monterey, which illustrates the friendliness of the people, then as now, concerns the occasion when the late Stanley Clifford opened his Adobe saloon. This, of course, was many years after the raising of the flag. The saloon, which was located where Hermann's is now, was extravagantly outfitted with the latest in equipment and fine liquors. The opening day was to be an opening the town would never forget. Mrs. Clifford worked for days baking hams, turkeys, chickens, making salads, preparing the "free lunch" for the expected crowds. She, at that time, was living in Pacific Grove. The day arrived, accompanied by the heaviest storm in many years. Streets were flooded. It was impossible to obtain a "sea-going hack." The food was in Pacific Grove, and no way to get it to the saloon in time for the opening. The street car which was operated between Monterey and the Gove was undependable but, for once, it rounded the turn near Holman's on schedule. Mrs. Clifford hailed it and explained her predicament to an understanding motorman. He jumped from the car, followed her into the house and began loading his vehicle with the prepared food. The food, Mrs. Clifford and the motorman rode to Monterey in lonely splendor, while other passengers-to-be waited at curbs in the rain, in vain. First and only stop was at the Adobe saloon, where customers assisted with the

Assessment Roll Up $120,000; New Roll $5,650,000

An estimated increase of $120,000 to the city assessment roll will bring it to $5,650,000, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley said yesterday, as he went into the final checking and recap work before depositing it officially on July 1.

Wednesday, the roll is to be presented to the city council sitting as a board of equalization.

Work of bringing in new buildings, alterations and additions under the permits for 1945 was very heavy this year, Mawdsley says. In all there were 102 permits, which, along with some personal property increases for businesses, accounts for the $120,000 increase.

Monterey All Set For Big Four-day Centennial Party

With more than 85 events scheduled, the program for the United States Flag Centennial to be held in Monterey July 4, 5, 6, and 7, promises to be one of the most colorful Celebrations of its kind ever to be held in the West. This event commemorates the first hoisting of a United States Flag on the California coast on July 7, 1846 by Commodore John Drake Sloat and his sailors and marines who captured the city.

This single naval engagement added approximately 600,000 square miles to the United States. The territory included all of California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and parts of New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming, land held by Mexico up to the time of Commodore Sloat's invasion, which, it is recorded, was but a day ahead of a planned operation of like nature by the British.

Some of the outstanding attractions, a majority of which are free to the public, are:

Four air shows on each day by from 30 to 120 Navy, Marine and Army air planes over Monterey Bay.

Mammoth fireworks display on Municipal Wharf No. 2 the night of July 4th.

The Cavalcade of Western Stars Championship Rodeo at 2 and 8 p.m. daily in the Monterey Baseball park.

Sloat's Moment of Decision, a reenactment of the ceremony of the ceremony of the first raising of the American flag over the Custom House 100 years ago, presented by more than 100 players on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, July 7.

Raising of the Stars and Stripes over the Custom House immediately following the pageant July 7, followed by speeches over National radio networks by dignataries of the Nation, State, City and Navy, Army and Marines.

Military parade at 10 a.m. July 4, in which Army, Navy, Marines, American Legion and other organizations and their bands will take part.

The Centennial Parade composed of Army, Navy and Marines and their bands, a long, line of beautiful floats in which the "Queen of

Carmel Float To Have Indians "But Clothed"

Carmel a Hundred Years Ago will be the theme of the float that will be Carmel's entry in the Monterey Centennial parade, "and since the Mission was in ruins and there was nothing here but a log cabin 100 years ago, I'm going to nature for my ideas and materials," Franklyn Dixon told the Pine Cone yesterday. He has been delegated by the Carmel Art Association, which in turn was delegated by the city council, to dream up the idea for the float and put it into execution.

One of the city trucks will be used, and sand, pines, and native plants will be arranged on it to represent Carmel beach and dunes.

The figures will be two Indians, and Carmelites are urging Dixon that he, himself, with a bright fresh sunburn is the likeliest candidate for one of the figures.

There is an unverified rumor that Dixon had planned on clothing his Indians in nothing but a G string. "But Monterey objected," our informant reported. "They said they'd have to run Dixon and his Indians in and the San Francisco newspapers would feature headlines about CARMEL ARTISTS PINCHED FOR NUDISM, thereby hogging all of Monterey's publicity.

Sporting NOTES

BY JOHN McDERMOTT

The Carmel Adult Softball League swung into play this week at the Sunset diamond when the local American Legion took the Firemen in nine innings 15 to 14 last Tuesday night, and the Lions and the Police battled to a 12 to 12 tie Wednesday evening that had to be called because of time after the game had extended to ten o'clock.

In the Tuesday night session the Legion grabbed a five run lead in the first inning but the Firemen tied up the game in the fourth. At the end of the scheduled seven innings both teams were tied 14 to 14, and it wasn't until the end of the ninth that the Legion squeezed across the winning run.

Wednesday night the local gendarmerie armed with baseball bats instead of billy-clubs started to run away with the ball game to the embarrassment of the toothless Lions until the fifth inning when the Lions scored nine runs taking the lead 11 to 10. The game was all tied up again at the end of the seventh, 12 to 12, and threatened to go on indefinitely when called because of approaching dawn in the west.

The local Junior League or the Teen-Age Circuit will begin their softball this week with three teams competing, the Pine Cone, Jrs, the Herald Carriers and the Pacific Grove, Jrs. The Parochial School team will not enter into the competition until later in the summer.

Jots and scratches dropped in the mailbox from George Mosolf's recreation department just before we went to press:

There has been a slight change in the time for afternoon swimming at the Howden pool. Swimming will start each afternoon at 1:30 instead of the previous scheduled 2:00.

Attendance at all activities has been very good and the youngsters seem to be having an excellent time. Help is needed in the transportation department, both to La Playa Ranch on Tuesday and to Pebble Beach on Wednesday. Thanks to the generosity of Gene Ricketts, a McDonald Dairy truck was made available last Tuesday and 75 kids made their way to Mr. Goodwin's pool. Mothers who can take their cars meet at Sunset school at 1:30 and give the kids a lift.

Remember the swimming at the La Plaza Ranch pool is restricted to youngsters from 7 to 18 who cannot swim. As soon as these non-swimmers learn to swim, advanced lessons will be given to anyone desiring them.

The puppet show given by the Hildebrands on Tuesday was attended by 70 "sprouts" from 4 to 9, and there was a sprinkling of mothers in the audience enjoying the show as much as their children. It was feared that the 4 year olds would be too noisy to be admitted to the show but they behaved so well that they are definitely invited.

The Pine Cone Jrs, Softball Team is down at Sunset each afternoon practising for the league opening. Pacific Grove is entering a team in our Kids League so the competition will be pretty hot. Any boy from 10-15 who wants to play softball can go down to Sunset school any afternoon and sign up.

The teen-age dance will be held in the Sunset Library instead of the cafeteria. Anyone desiring to learn to dance, improve his dancing or just dance for the fun of it, be sure to make the dance a must each Wednesday night from 8:30-11:00. Mrs. Skelley is a grand dancing instructor and will show you how to make your feet behave—slow, fast, rhumba or polka. The cokes are plentiful, the music is good and the price fits any purse—it's all free.

Check the bulletin board at the post office for the hour by hour schedule if you missed it in the Pine Cone last week and changes if any. The weekly softball schedule is also posted there.

Warm thanks to Mrs. Grace Howden and Fred Godwin for fulfilling a great need in our children's fun department—a place to swim.

SOFTBALL THIS WEEK

All games are scheduled for the Sunset diamond at eight o'clock this week.

SATURDAY—Pine Cone vs Palo Alto Plumbers.

MONDAY—Pacific Grove, Jrs., vs Pine Cone, Jrs.

TUESDAY—Pine Cone vs Pet Milk of Salinas.

The Adult League games have been cancelled because of the Centennial.

PINE CONE-LEGION

Heavy bats featured Monday night's game at Pacific Grove when the Carmel Pine Cone Softball Team dropped their second league game in four tilts played to the American Legion of Monterey 17 to 13.

The local team took a comfortable lead in the first two innings, pulling out in front of the veterans with a score of 8 to 2. The Monterey team came back swinging, and by the end of the third were trailing 9 to 7, and then took over the lead in the fourth 11 to 9. By the end of the sixth Carmel had regained the lead but dropped the ball game when Monterey pushed five runs across the plate in the first half of the last inning.

PINE CONE-EAGLES

Playing a non-league, pick-up game, the Carmel Pine Cone Softball team dropped a 3 to 0 decision to the Monterey Eagles a week ago tonight, June 21, before a packed Friday night crowd on the local diamond.

The game was a pitcher's battle for the nine innings each side allowing three hits. Carmel's Ky Myamoto was hurt sliding into thrid base and retired to relief pitcher Ray Gumm in the seventh inning.

The Eagles caught Gumm while he was still cold and with the bases filled, Gumm walked two Monterey men allowing two free runs. A third run and the Eagles had all they needed.

LIONS-LIONS

Overcoming a first inning landslide, the Carmel Lions at an average of sixty-two and a half and slightly handicapped by paunches and smoker's cough, huffed and puffed their way to a stunning 12 to 7 victory Saturday night over the Monterey Lions.

Featuring a cigar-smoking infield, the contest proved to be the bleacher fans delight and many a child saw "Daddy" on a playing field for the first time after years

BAGS LION

M. C. Kastor of Robles Del Rio bagged a 130-pound female mountain lion Sunday night at the Lambert ranch in the Cachugua section of upper Carmel Valley. The lion had killed several young calves and deer before she was caught.

Kastor's hounds picked up the trail of the beast early in the evening and finally, at 1:30 a.m., she was treed and killed.

New Owners Take Over Bakery Sat.

The sale of the Dolores Bakery by George Wishart to Mario Tartaglino was announced this week. Mr. Wishart has managed the concern for the past 15 years, and will end his active participation with the bakery on tomorrow. The new owner is from Santa Cruz, where he also maintained a bakery.

The Wisharts are expecting their son, Billy, home any day now from Manila, and upon his release from active duty with the Navy the family will take a trip east to visit relatives.

Carmel Unincorp Protests License For "Ranch" Bar

Members of Carmel Unincorporated journeyed to Salinas on Monday to protest alleged violations of the zoning ordinance by the Mission Ranch Club, following application by that organization for a duplicate liquor license for use in the recreation hall. The application is at present before the State Board of Equalization.

Charles McHarry, attorney, represented the protesting group, which is made up of residents in the area surrounding the Mission Ranch Club. Establishment of a bar in the recreation hall, which would be the third on the premises, would be for the purpose of accomodating banquet and club groups.

Other alleged violations, McHarry said, include the opening of the club to the general public when it had originally been maintained as a private organization; using the barn for dancing and a bar, and setting up living quarters on the recreation hall. The entire matter will be thoroughly investigated by the Planning Commission, it was stated at Monday's meeting.

Fountain-Lunch Building To Go Up On Post Office Lot

A special meeting of the city council was called last night to act on an application for a permit by Lt. Rollo Payne, Del Monte Naval Training School, to build a dairy lunch and fountain building on the corner of Dolores and Sixth, next to the post office.

The dairy, designed by Hugh Comstock, who will also be the builder, is an attractive, low roofed, one-story, L shaped construction of adobe and stucco with provision for a courtyard garden facing on Sixth, where lunches can be served out-of-doors. Work is to begin immediately, and total cost is estimated at $10,000.

Lt. Payne, who for two years and a half was the officer in charge of ships service department at Del Monte Naval School, the department that corresponds to the post exchange in the army, will be retired from active duty next month.

Manager of the new dairy fountain will be a Mrs. Ruth Morton, who was manager of the fountain at Del Monte.

Brig. Gen. Holdridge Brings Damage Suit Against Rep. Rankin

Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge is one of twelve members of the Veterans League of America, bringing damage suits in Federal Court, Washington D. C., against Representative Rankin (D., Miss.) for alleged defamatory and false statements.

The suits total $650,000. Gen. Holdridge is asking $100,000, while the other members are asking $50,000 each. It is alleged that Rankin made defamatory remarks about him in the House Democratic cloakroom, and also made similar remarks on the telephone to newspaper reporters.

Gen. Holdridge's home in Carmel Woods on San Luis near San Lucas is now occupied by the Joe Campbells. He and Mrs. Holdridge left here about a year-and-a-half ago.

Beattie Reaches Peak of Excellence In "Invocation To The Evening Star" At Sunset Concert Friday Evening

By Noel Sullivan

A month ago, as the second attraction of the 1946 series, the Monterey Peninsula Music and Arts Foundation presented Isaac Stern who is one of the outstanding violinists of our day, and the fact that he, though born in Russia, had been reared and educated in California seemed to point to a new concept of the geographical and environment background of contemporary artists.

The final concert of the series, which was held at Sunset School auditorium last Friday evening, was given by Douglas Beattie, bass-baritone, a California native son who completed in the cultural centers of Europe the musical education begun in his home state.

Douglas Beattie possesses all of the qualifications of the singer. He has a magnificent voice of impressive range, which he uses with skill and flexibility. His musical feeling is sure and his histrionic sense, unfailing. Not the least of his gifts is a remarkable diction which he utilizes, not as an end in itself, but as a means of communicating and projecting the content of every song.

Most of the program, which was designed with thought and originality, was in English. The Scriptural texts for two of the Brahms "Serious Songs" were from the King James version of the Bible. Then there was a group by Russian composers, Rimsky Korsakoff, Gretchaninoff, Cui and Moussorgsky, sung in their native language. Undoubtedly Mr. Beattie has more than a phonetic knowledge of the Slavic tongue which lends itself admirably to the sonorous coloring of a low voice.

As a general rule I prefer it when the singer does not move out of the vocal frame in order to translate or explain the composition he is performing. Mr. Beattie, however, greatly enhanced the evening's entertainment by his comments on his own program, and in so doing revealed the splendor of his voice for purposes of speech.

The operatic arias, dramatized and articulated to the fullest, completely justified the singer's stated conviction favoring opera in English. I am certain there was more than one in the audience who recalled listening in solemn bewilderment to a text in a foreign language which, in translation, proved itself to be full of comedy and humor!

There were three songs (in every sense "Americana") by Ernst Bacon who, it will be remembered, conducted the first Bach Festival, which was held here in 1935, and the last group was made up of ballads by American composers. For pure lyricism nothing could surpass By a lonely Forest Pathway, of Griffes, and among the encores it would be difficult to choose between the Abendstern form Tannhauser or the Lamento of Monteverdi.

Throughout the program Rex Uhl played admirable accompaniments, revealing always a sensitive response to the intention of the singer.

In thinking about Douglas Beattie's concert, many things have occured to me. It was one of the most enjoyed of recitals that has been given in this vicinity, and I doubt very much that any bass-baritone has ever held the attention of his audience more completely. If there were some empty places in the house it is either an indication that this community is not greatly interested in vocalists, or (what I suspect more) depends exclusively on the metropolitan managerial ballyhoo that builds up an artist as a box-office attraction. Having spent much of my life preoccupied with the very problems over which Mr. Beattie has triumphed: the free and expressive use of a low voice, I would like to put myself on record as recognizing that a peak of excellence, totally, musically, verbally, was attained in the Invocation to the Evening Star, which concluded the program. Had the singer a name that was unpronouncable, which might appeal to some concert-goers, his performance could not have been finer!

of arm-chair quarterbacking. Highlight of the evening was the impromptu, frightened-rabbit routine performed for a full four minutes by Bob Weaver when he was caught between third and home while the obliging opponents kicked, slapped and dribbled the ball around the infield.

Future games complete with oxygen tents and stretchers will be attended by large numbers of baseball fans anxious to see plays they have only heard of in the rule book.

RAIN-CHECK RESULTS

By F. Shea

Harrison Godwin and Samuel F. B. Morse were the winners of the Rain-Check point-par golf tournament at the Cypress Point Club last Saturday, finishing with a total of 46 points. After taking a 49 on the first nine, Morse, 17 handicap, scored a blazing 39 on the in-coming holes, while Godwin, 9 handicap, fired a 78.

Mrs. H. C. Hunt and Commander Pliny Guernsey Holt wound up in second place, 45 points, only one marker behind the victors.

Other players: Paul S. Winslow and John B. Morse, 40; Harry C. Hunt and Francis N. Shea, 40; Stuart Haldorn and Charles M. Daniels, 39; Charles Crocker and William Hudson, 36; Randolph Scott and A. C. Castle, no return; Mrs. Randolph Scott and Freeman Gosden, no return

Final Program Completed For Bach Festival

On his return from his fifth trip to Los Angeles, where he has been auditing Bach Festival participants, Gastone Usigli held a conference with Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous, producing managers, and final arrangements for the programs of Festival Week, July 22-28, were completed.

Soloists include Desire Ligeti, leading bass of the Royal Hangarian Opera until the war, who will be basso of the vocal quartet in the Magnificat and B minor Mass. Following are the programs:

Monday, July 22: Overture B minor; Cantata, "I Know that my Redeemer Liveth", for tenor voice, Russell Horton; Concerto for two pianos and orchestras, Lillian Steuber, Ralph Linsley; Magnificat for soloists, chorus and orchestra.

Tuesday: Concerto grosso D minor, Vivaldi, for string orchestra; Arias for bass voice, Noel Sullivan; Concerto for cello and orchestra, Boccherini, William Harry; Madrigals for voices; Concerto for piano and orchestra in E flat, Mozart, Lillian Steuber.

Wednesday: Organ recital, 3 and 4 p.m. Dr. C. Harold Einecke.

Thursday: Brandenburg Concerto 2; Solo cantata, "Jauchzett Gott," Alice Mock; Arias, Roland Hayes; Concerto A major, for violin and orchestra, Doris Ballard.

Friday: Organ recital, 3 and 4 p.m. Dr. C. Harold Einecke.

Saturday: Magnificat for soloists, chorus and orchestra; Solo cantata for bass voice, Desire Ligeti; Concerto for two violins and orchestra, Doris Ballard, Eleanor Mader; Phoebus and Pan, for soloists and orchestra.

Sunday: B minor Mass at 3 and 8 p.m.

Anne Ashley and Joseph Tissier of the San Francisco Commedy Opera Players appear here in the comic opera, The Village Singers, with San Francisco Symphony Orchestra players at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, Saturday evening, July 6.

$17,000 Increase In Expenditure Planned By Board

Amended contracts were signed by the school board with Ernest J. Kump, high school architect, Tuesday night, breaking down the old contract for plans for an auditorium "and other construction" to three seperate contracts, for a 1000-chair auditorium, for a swimming pool and for a student's union. No date for the start of construction has been set even tentatively.

The board provisionally accepted the budget of $199,150 for the coming school year. State aid amounts to $64,752 so that the local tax requirements will be $134,398, necessitating a tax of $1.38, a 25 cent increase over last year. But the Sunset bond issue, with tax rates of 3 cents and 5 cents have run out so the estimated increase of 25 cents in the district rate will be offset by 8 cents bond tax saving, to a net increase of only 17 cents.

Peter Mawdsley, budget controller, in his interpretation of ratios of salaries to current expense remain about the same as last year, teachers salaries accounting for 63 per cent and all salaries 82 per cent.

Total current expense is $9,000 over the previous year's budget, an increase of about 5½ per cent, and is mostly accounted for by teachers' salary and commodity price increases. The capital outlay provision of $20,000 to take care of limited building requirements is partly offset by droping the accummulative building fund of $12,000 and is reduced to an actual increase of $8,000. This, with the increase in current expense, accounts for $17,000.

Under the code procedure, the first tabulation will be adopted as the tentative budget and sent in to the county superintendant for checking, then adopted as the preliminary school budget for submission to a public hearing to be held on Friday, August 2, before final adoption in that week.

"It should be pointed out that because assessed valuations have not grown along with the increase in costs of operation, School Boards have no escape from increased tax rates if they make adequate and proper provision for the schools' needs and efficient opperation," Mawdsley concluded.

Manuel Peirera Takes Over Drive-In Produce Department

Manuel Peirera, popular Carmel man, has purchased the produce department of the Carmel Drive-In Market, and will begin management of the concern next Monday, with his wife, Mrs. Alberta Peirera.

Mr. Peirera, whohas been associated with Kip's market for the past five years, is a graduate of both Sunset school and Monterey High School. His wife is a more recent resident, coming here just before the war. They were married in San Jose in September 1944.

Motion Pictures More Interesting Medium Than Drama Says Carmel's Dramatist, Pulitzer Prize Novelist

On Tuesday evening Glenn Clairmonte's class in Contemporary Literature had a stimulating visit with one of literature's distinguished men, Mr. Martin Flavin, whose recent novel, Journey in the Dark, won the Harper and Pulitzer prizes.

This was not a talk from Mr. Flavin, but a discussion with him, for instead of giving a prepared lecture he asked for questions. These he answered in a casual informal way as if talking with friends at home, but he packed a lot of meat into the answers.

Mr. Flavin said he quit writing for the stage eight years ago, and that it no longer interested him, but the questions kept him going back to it again and again, and he spoke of his own plays, and of others; of the fundamental problems of the playwright, the producer, the director, the designer, the actor, and of the six-fold collaboration that must be carried on by these men and the audience before the play is a finished piece of work. In the process the playwright must abandon one ofter another of his own creations and take in their stead a collaborative effect. Only once, he said, has he felt that the collaborators worked perfectly together. That was ot Van Druten's "The Voice of the Turtle". He felt that he himself had never met with that perfect collaboration on any of his plays and he abandoned their making with no regret. It was exciting and interesting once, but "either the stage has changed, or I have, or we both have". Motion pictures, he said, offered a more interesting medium. Books, he implied, were more satisfying than either.

It was a most rewarding evening, for whether he talked of plot or of character; of the novel, or the play; whether he was comparing a movie with a play, or a play with a novel, he went always directly to the core, to the essential difference, the essential problem. He has the faculty of seeing the essence, and the talent for presenting it with clarity and brevity.

Credit for the evening should go to Mrs. Clairmonte too. For some months now her Tuesday and Thursday evenings have been a delight to book-lovers and writers. In her enthusiasm for people and for books, Mrs. Clairmonte has given a great deal of herself to these group-discussions. She knows how to draw out other people, too, and these have been lively meetings.

The Tuesday evening class was particularly fortunate in having Mr. Flavin appear, for he was one of the writers whose work they have studied and discussed. Some of the other writers whose books they have dissected are Gertrude Stein, James Joyce, William Saroyan, Robert Nathan, Franz Kafka and Thornton Wilder.

Highlights of these evenings have been the guest speakers: Fred Bechdolt, well-known Carmelite, who insists he writes "just for dough"; Richard Hagopian, author of The Dove Brings Peace; Edward G. Kuster, who read some of Robinson Jeffers' poems; and Martin Flavin whose talk brought the class to its summer vacation close.

It is hoped that Mrs. Clairmonte will be able to continue these classes in the Fall, and that the auditorium will be available on guest-nights so that more people may hear these men. Carmel is a fine source of guest-speakers, and if anyone can get them to talk, Glenn Clairmonte can. —C.B.

1st Flight Cachets Obtainable Through Salinas C. C. Office

Carmel stamp collectors will be able to obtain first flight cachets on the new passenger and airmail service which will be inauguerated at the Salinas airport by United Air Lines on July 16, it was announced this week by the Salinas Chamber of Commerce.

A special envelope is being printed by the organization, and those desiring the item for their collections are asked to send their own envelopes to the Salinas postmaster, or their stamps to the Chamber of Commerce, where they will be affixed to the special envelope.

City Slicker Airtoy Experts Crack Up In Tall Grass Here

BY MALCOM WHITMAN, JR.

At the locale of the Annual Kite Festival, two visiting airtoy sports tried out their new-fangled practices Sunday, and had hard luck. They were Claude "Buck" Angwin and Niel Sicard, both of Palo Alto, Sicard, president of the very active Palo Alto U. Liners Club there, and both ardent devotees of the U control flying sport, which Nevelles E. Walker, its inventor, first introduced to Carmel in 1943. When Walker chose to fly his model on Carmel beach, the Palo Altans feared to get sand in their motors and preferred to essay flight at the high school field, to which they were accompanied by Messers Hilyard and Gray of the Models and Hobbies Store, these very much interested in observing advanced flying practices by men acquainted with the new developments.

Sicard and Anguin were not making an official visit or showing for their club, as their main object in coming to Carmel over the weekend was to visit friends and attend to business.

The models proved indeed advanced, but adapted for conditions in the Stanford Football Stadium and did not function so well here. Perhaps some defensive kite exclusivist had breathed a curse into the too strong wind and secretly inched up the grass, which their models in current city design don't like too long.

Sicard, who had two models with him, chose to fly a model designed for the prevailing Pacific Coast agreements between clubs on "construction and flight control" competition, a flying scale model of a Great Lakes Sport Trainer biplane, detailed by the flyer from three-view photographs of the prototype. He deftly got this retty red and yellow ship off the grass, by dint of making a difficult downwind take-off, necessitated by the grass-restrained run. He held full control of the plane through a flight in which it was buffetted by gusts of wind stronger than any local modellers would have dared fly in, but on the set down, tangled the model's landing gear for a crack-up which "took" the rudder, both panels of the prettily finished top wing, and the left panel of the lower. Palo Alto spectators, who have been learning aerobatic practices from Sicard's example with this model, with which he had earlier splendidly shown his technique to a group of Peninsula modellers in Monterey, at the High school field there, may miss the little job, which was to be left in Carmel with Hillyard and Gray. But now Carmel airtoy sports will miss learning from the construction points example, too, as it had to be taken back to Palo Alto for repairs.

Angwin could not even get his sleek spread contest ship off through the grass, despite two tries. The model he essayed flight with has been clocked for 105 m. p.h., and the extension shaft motor with which it was fitted was new to Carmel.

To greet these representatives of the Palo Alto club, Richard Johnson turned out with the only U-Control model airplane in Carmel. He has been scored against in the form of crack-ups rather heavily of late and felt it a consolation of a sort to learn that even presidents of active flying clubs, provided with the latest data out of technical libraries, still have them too.

The wing and propeller on a small black type model with red trim, which Sicard had with him, had been very carefully microcalipered to the latest in wind tunnel findings on airfoil form, and the work proved out to the satisfaction of Sicard after comparison with previous ships. This precision finishing of wing and propeller may prove the nylon of the airtoy sport world in months to come. It is part of the advanced airtoy sport thrill to hope you have it in the design of your new ships.

But as a small community airtoy enthusiast, not particularly keen on speed type models and jealously critical of anything achieved by city slicker contemporaries, the fact that Angwin failed to get his model off and the Sicard decided not to risk his second ship gives me a chance to crack that while these two designers were painstakingly micro-calipering away at ships conventional in appearance and parts arrangement, they were letting the grass grow under their feet.

Tennessee Stamp Coming Up; U.S. P.O. Well-Heeled For 1946

A new stamp is ordered, honoring the State of Tennessee on its 150th anniversary, according to Postmaster Ernest Bixler. It will be put on sale as soon as it arrives at the Carmel Post Office. Meanwhile, the demand for the popular Honorable Discharge Emblem stamp, which has been on sale for two weeks, continues lively among local stamp collectors.

In the mail addressed to the postmaster this week was the Annual Report for the Fiscal Year 1945 from the Postmaster General, with the information that the Post Office Department goes into its new fiscal year with an operating surplus of $162,642.89. This is a big increase over the preceding year, Bixler says, adding that the credit should go to Ex-Postmaster General Frank Walker.

A Chivalrous People...

A GOOD wish to make at this time would be, perhaps, that the spirit of chivalry inherent in the men and women of old Monterey might live again and spread throughout the world . . . . "Though a quasi war exists", Rev. Colton wrote in his diary in 1846, "all the amenities and courtesies of life are preserved. Your person, life and liberty are as sacred at the hearth of the Californian as they would be at your own fireside. He will never betray you; the rights of hospitality, in his generous judgement, require him to peril his life in defense of yours . . . Their hospitality knows no bounds. They are always glad to see you, come when you may . . . If you are sick, there is nothing that sympathy and care can devise or perform which is not done for you . . . . No sister ever hung over the throbbing brain or fluttering pulse of a brother with more tenderness or fidelity. This is as true of the lady whose hand has only figured her embroidery or swept her guitar, as of the cottage girl wringing from her laundry the foam of the mountain stream."

New Oil Show at Gallery

BY PATRICIA CUNNINGHAM

The recent sensational boom in the sale of painting in this and other countries, is convincing evidence that at last the painter has a substantial audience. The term public in regard to art has ceased to mean the smattering of dilettantes and exquisites who went to the vernissages and arty tea parties— or the myriad and undistinguised millions who enhance their walls with Saturday Evening Post covers and illustrations from magazines and calendars. These two extremes have merged in an intelligent and active demand which has taken painting out of the category of a hobby or something to bridge a pause in conversation. It could almost be called an industry at this point.

Aware of this condition, we look with keener interest at what the galleries have to offer and seek to estimate the effect that the new public has on the types of wares offered for sale. The Carmel Art Gallery, being an actively successful sales gallery, can reasonably be taken as an example of general conditions. So we go to the new exhibition of oils by art association members particularly alert to this aspect of the show.

As always, there are many types of painting. There are aesthetically creative works on the one hand—imitative descriptive performances on the other—and some leaning more strongly one way or the other. Because of the noticible increase in the interpretive creative intent as against the long familiar rendering of surface story telling effects, it would seem that the increase in an intelligent thinking demand is gradually coming into its own. The love of the familiar and imitative which has inspired the papering of thousands of square miles of wall surface with Varga girls and magazine covers is no longer mistaken for an appreciation of art. This involves a problem in aesthetics too complicated to go into here, but at least it serves to identify the two trends in public recognition of the arts. Since recognition means the exercise of buying power, which is mighty important, it is well to try and figure out, even briefly, what goes into this recognition.

Among the definitley interpretive creative group in this exhibition are the paintings by Gene Francis, John O'Shea, Maxine Albro, Henrietta Shore, Richard Loften, Florence True, Barbara Stevenson, Elwood Graham, Marjorie Doolittle. This group lends itself fully to aesthetic critiscism and analysis because of substantial formal organization as the basis of the emotional story telling content which is expected of a painting. It is significant that emotion without form is impossible—the weaker the form, the more the emotion degenerates into sentiment.

The giants of the academy, backed up by tradition and generations of recognition, are represented by the painting of Armin Hansen, Paul Dougherty, William Ritschel. Lee Randolph's "Lighthouse" combines a most expressive emotional quality with the traditional style.

Among the group describing surface aspects of nature, the visitor will find much to impress his admiration. Great dexterity in reproducing textures, light effects, pleasing color harmonies, all of this will engage his attention and approval of craftmanship. It is up to each individual what he chooses to enjoy, and the depths of his enjoyment. If he buy something for the story it tells, which he could better read in a book, that is his own look out. If he wants something that will sustain its integrity as a visual experience consistently and constantly, he will also have the opportunity to do that.

Besides the artists mentioned above, those exhibiting are Fredinand Burgdorff, Lee Daniels, William Watts, Lester Boranda, Margaret Levick, Paul Mays, Howard Smith, I. M. Curtis, Frank Myers, Cooper Catlin, George Kock, Burton Boundy, Charlotte Morgan, De Neale Morgan, Abel Warshawsky, A. H. Gilbert, William Silva, Frank Moore, Catherine Seideneck, Thomas McGlyn, Jules Flobert, E. Kraft, E. M. Heath.

Gallery hours are every afternoon from two to five except Wednesdays. Special appointments can be made by phoning Mrs. Nellie Montague, curator.

Comic Opera At Sunset On July 6

The San Francisco Comedy Opera Guild brings gay and rollicking entertainment for Centennial visitors, with its performance of The Village Singers, comic opera, in the Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel, on Saturday evening, July 6. The curtain will not rise until 8:45 or a bit later, in order to allow time for visitors to attend the Centennial Parade.

Erich Weiler, general musical director, will conduct twelve outstanding members of the San Francisco Symphony as the orchestra which will support some nine of the bay area's most brilliant singers. Anne Ashley, in the leading role of Rosa, has a high, true voice, praised highly by the Christian Science Monitor, the Chicago Daily Tribune and the San Francisco press, Alexander Fried declaring, "She brought down the house". Miss Ashley has sung with the San Francisco Opera, as has also Stanley Noonan, who sings Stonati in the comic opera, while Joseph Tissier, tenor, singing the part of Carlino, has carried leading roles in light opera in San Francisco for the last five years.

Settings and costumes are by Sotomayor, and the complete production will be given exactly as in Stern Grove to an audience of thousands next Sunday, and as in San Francisco last winter. Comedy, brilliant costuming, and outstanding singing characterize the production.

VERIFIED PETITION TO ALTER THE BOUNDARIES OF THE CARMEL SANITARY DISTRICT BY ANNEXATION OF OUTLYING CONTIGUOUS TERRITORY IN THE SAME COUNTY AS SUCH SANITARY DISTRICT, AND IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF THE HEALTH AND SAFETY CODE, AS AMENDED.

We, the undersigned owners of real property, represent to the Carmel Sanitary District and the members of the Board thereof, as follows:

1. That we are the owners of real property in the contiguous territory proposed to be annexed and that said real property represents at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the total assessed valuation of said contiguous territory, as shown by the last equalized assessment book of the County of Monterey, and that the boundaries of said contiguous territory are as follows:

PARCEL I

Beginning at the intersection of the present easterly boundary of the Sanitary District on Dolores Street south of Santa Lucia Street and the westerly extension of the common boundary of Lots 25 and 26 in Block 10, as said lots and block are shown and designated on that certain map entitled "THIRD ADDITION TO MISSION TRACT, a subdivision of a Portion of Fractional Section 13, T. 16 S., R. 1 W., M.D.M., adjoining Carmel-by-the-Sea, California," filed for record May 20, 1941, in the office of the County Recorder of Monterey County, State of California, in Volume 4 of Maps, "Cities and Towns," at page 57; and running thence easterly along said common boundary to the southeast corner of said Lot 26; thence northwesterly along the common boundary of Lots 26 and 15; to the northeast corner of Lot 26; thence southwesterly along the common boundary of Lots 26 and 27 to the intersection of said common boundary with the westerly boundary of Lot 27; thence northwesterly along the westerly boundary of Lot 27 to the intersection of said boundary with the center line of Franciscan Way; then westerly along said center line of Franciscan Way to the present eastern boundary of said Sanitary District, on Dolores Street and Franciscan Way; thence southerly along the existing boundary of said Sanitary District to the point of beginning; said parcel including all of Lot 26 herein mentioned and all of the lot adjacent thereto on the north and belonging to Petitioners, and sometimes known as Lot 1 in Block 10, First Addition to Mission Tract.

PARCEL II

Lot numbered 20 in Block Numbered 151 as said Lot and Block are shown on that certain map entitled Map of "Carmel Woods, being the Ninth Addition to Carmel-by-the-Sea, Monterey, County, California," filed for record June 9, 1922, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Volume 3 of Maps, "Cities and Towns," at page 21; bounded on the north by Lot 18 of Block 151; bounded on the east by Dolores Street; bounded on the south by Lot 22 of Block 151; bounded on the west by Lots 19 and 21 of Block 151; said parcel being contiguous with the present boundaries of the Sanitary District upon its north, south and east boundaries.

2. That the assessed value of the property as of March 1, 1946, is as follows:

	Land	Improvements	Total
Parcel I:
Lot 26	$ 600.	None	$ 600.
Lot 1, Block 10	$1400.	$6750.	$8,150.
Parcel II:
Lot 20, Block 151	$ 300.	None	$ 300.

said valuation being shown by the last equalized assessment book of Monterey County for such contiguous territory.

WHEREFORE we respectfully request that the Sanitary Board of the Carmel Sanitary District and the honorable members thereof take the necessary, proper and legal steps to alter the present existing boundaries of said Carmel Sanitary District, so as to include within the altered boundaries thereof the property described heretofore in Paragraph 1, the boundaries of which are specifically designated, and that said contiguous territory be annexed to and become a part and parcel of said Carmel Sanitary District.

Name of Property Owner	Description of Property as shown on Map of First or Map of Third Addition to Mission Tract, and on Map of Ninth Addition to Carmel-by-the-Sea.	Assessed Valuation as Shown by Last Equalized Assessment Book.
LOUIS A. HIRSH	Lot 1, Block 10	$8150.
	Lot 26,	600.
MRS. LORRAINE M. HIRSH	ditto	ditto
BARBARA D. STITT	Lot 20, Block 151	$300.
MILTON W. STITT	ditto	ditto

Crichton-Ewig Wedding

Last Saturday evening Gordon Ewig took as his bride Virginia Crichton. The ceremony was performed in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Oakland.

The bride was preceeded down the aisle by her maid-of-honor, who was her sister Ann, her four bridesmaids, Nancy Hubbard, Natalie Doe, Betty McCann, and Sue Roeth. They wore princess style dresses of pale yellow marquisette. Their boquets were Esther Reed daisies and they had wreaths of daisies in their hair.

Following her attendants the lovely bride came down the aisle with her father, Mr. Fred E. Crichton. Her wedding gown was white satin, princess style with a sweetheart neckline, and long sleeves. Minature orange blossoms held her flowing veil in place. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids and white bouvardia. For something old she carried a white prayer book which has been in the family for several generations.

Gordon's brother Stanley stood with him as best man. His ushers were Don Selby, Charles Collier, Ed Gibbs, and Johnny Johnson, all Delta Chi brothers of the groom.

Following the wedding over two hundred guests gathered at the Piedmont home of Mrs. George Rothganger, who is an old friend of the bride's family to toast the young couple with champagne.

In the receiving line was Virginia's mother, Mrs. Fred E. Crichton. She was most attractively gowned in grey with pale pink hat and gloves. Mrs. E. H. Ewig, the groom's mother, wore a gown of royal blue with the bodice of silver metallic, and a small feathered cerise hat. Both mothers wore corsages of orchids.

The house was beautifully decorated with masses of white gladiloli. On a table covered with a white satin table cloth stood the bride's cake. It was a three tiered white cake topped with a dome of fresh gardenias.

For her going away costume Virginia wore a red gaberdine suit, with a white off-the-face hat and white accessories. Pinned to her suit was a corsage of white orchids.

After returning from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Ewig will make their home in Palo Alto while Gordon continues his studies at Stanford.

Entering Radcliffe

Joan Wohlenberg, who spends much of her time at the Wohlenberg home on Casanova Street, is making plans to enter Radcliffe College, Cambridge, in September.

Miss Wohlenberg has just graduated from Sarah Dix Hamlin in San Francisco. She was this year's editor-in-chief of The Epilogue.

As a complete surprise to Joan at the graduation exercise the principal announced that Joan has won an award in the Atlantic Monthly contest for students. Ann's English teacher, unknown to Ann had entered the poem or article in the contest. So she must wait until more information is forthcoming.

Idaho Vacation

A letter to friends here from the Loren Howards reports superb vacationing at Priest Lake in Northern Idaho. Fishing is excellent and Carol, with beginner's luck, caught the first salmon trout. The weather, they say, is beautiful, with occasional flurries of rain. On clear days, the mountains across the border into Canada are clearly visible.

Mrs. Marsh Back

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Marsh has returned to Carmel after visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. C. De Marelas, in New York for the last two months. At present she is staying with Mrs. Smith Midkiff.

Change of Plans

The Ft. Ord Chapter of Army Daughters wishes to announce that their meeting will not be held at the Ft. Ord Officers Club as previously stated. They will meet instead at the Cloister Room of the La Riberia Hotel. Dinner will be at 7:30 tonight. Reservations can still be obtained by calling Mrs. Seaborn 1261-W, or Vi Weisinger 1319.

TO THE FARMERS of Calilornia, great credit is due for systematically stepping up food production to help feed a hungry world.

Maximum production is still the order of the day. And in a large part of California, frequent irrigation of corps is the vital factor in production.

Since your electric pump will play such an important part in producing this year's crops, it should be given every attention. If you think it is not operating normally, we suggest a pump test. The services of our pump testing crews are available at your request.

"Looking for someone? . . . Oh, trying to find friends who live here? Yes, Carmel addresses are confusing! Afraid I don't know anyone by that name but let's try a little detective work . . . What kind of people are they? . . . Nice, interesting, work hard, like good company and fun, know their way around and want the best! Now, what time is it? About quarter to six? This is really almost too elementary! Your friends are in SADE'S, of course! You just arrived in Carmel, didn't you? How did I know? Well, a lot of new people are here for the Centennial but anyone who has been around even a day or so knows the Carmel byword this time of day — 'Meet me at SADE'S for cocktails!' — SADE'S — right down Ocean below Lincoln — wait a minute, I'll show you. No bother — I was just on my way to SADE'S, myself!"

For that sweet tooth! . . . Candies for gifts, for your guests, for yourself! The GOURMET, in the Pine Inn, as always, offers you very special delicacies. You'll never be able to resist these . . . A one pound milk chocolate bar — cubed so that you can divide it easily — chuck full of roasted almonds — made especially for the GOURMET — wonderful! A little taste of Texas in either Burnt Offering — caramels with almonds — or Texas Pecandy—caramels with pecans. Almondola—grilled almonds rolled in chocolate and dipped in cocoa. Many other assorted sweets . . . Chocolate-covered lentils. Turkish Delights. Fruit lozenges — plum, peach, apricot. Mints. Plain caramels, if you prefer them. Whatever your taste is in candies, you'll find something just a bit better — just a bit different — at the GOURMET!

Que lo pase usted bien! . . . "Have a good time!" But you won't at the Centennial unless your personal costume is perfect! Which brings us to THE MEXICAN IDOL, in Monterey, headquarters for authentic Mexican garb . . . Mexican blouses with handmade lace. A China Poblana blouse in gay floral pattern. Short skirts in variegated colors, black and red, yellow, pink — trimmed with Mexican handmade lace. A distinctive coat made from Guatemalan huipile. A striking red wool coat embroidered in Indian motif. Elegant black lace mantillas. A few lovely, high combs. Greatly reduced Mexican huaraches — sizes 4 to 8 . . . Men's Charro costumes — trousers, jackets, wide scarves used as belts, red with gold tassels. High peaked Mexican straw hats, peon's flat hats, typical Mexican, felts in chocolate brown . . . At THE MEXICAN IDOL, 226 Calle Principal, Monterey.

Good food, real service and friendly smiles! . . . That's what you get at SENAC'S, on the corner of Mission and Ocean . . . That's the way things will be all during the Centennial rush, too. You can count on SENAC'S, whether you are an "out-of-towner" or a "city father—or mother!" Try their delicious breast of turkey sandwich plate with homemade potato salad! Or another wonderful summer food idea for lunch or a snack — SENAC'S Summer Salad Bowls — vegetable or fruit salads prepared to the queen's taste! SENAC'S is open until 11:30 p.m. for that late bite to eat!

Dress up your house for the Centennial, too! . . . The DISCOVERY SHOP, on Dolores, has charming, different things for any event and to live with the year round. Mexican hammered tin — skillfully crafted, unique—shadowboxes, picture frames, candle holders to hang on your wall, the flame reflected against a shining hammered background — or leaf patterns for table candles . . . Copper and brass, too, in unusually beautiful designs . . . Mexican glass — shimmering blue . . . Snowflake coasters that will cause comment at any gathering . . . Glowing, deep rose, etched glass — a decanter and six liqueur glasses—only $7.50 for the set! . . . THE DISCOVERY SHOP is the place to really discover beauty for your home!

Coats! . . . The CINDERELLA SHOP, on Ocean, has coats to wear over Centennial clothes and for warm days and chilly nights to come . . . First, heavenly, unlined coats — fingertip, seven-eighths (almost full) and jacket lengths — knit, jerseyish material, soft but firm — collarless, tucked necklines — hemstitched or trapunto trim — perfect with fiesta clothes — lemon yellow, candy pink, powder, aqua, "Mexican" pink! Coats with a million uses — out galavanting, indoors, in your patio, over evening dresses — any time another coat is too much, a sweater not enough . . . Perhaps you need a regular lined coat! . . . Three-quarter, seven-eighths, fingertip lengths — new flared, belted or boxy, Oriental-looking styles — raglan shoulders, cuffed and puffed sleeves — plaids, checks, plain colors — Chinese red, gold, blues, naturals. Note the belted, three-quarter, white wine classic and the red, black and white Angus plaid.

Movie cameras! . . . They've arrived at last! . . . At the BEAUX ARTS STUDIO AND CAMERA SHOP, Ocean and Lincoln. Here are those long-awaited cameras, just in time so that you can get wonderful pictures of the Centennial — your summer days of fun—scenic shots on the trips you are planning. Catch the children in their present phase — preserve the interesting times in your lives from now on . . . Bolex and Keystone models — 8 mm. Shoot reels of color film you'll cherish . . . The BEAUX ARTS STUDIO AND CAMERA SHOP.

Brilliant, native Spanish colors in beautiful Guatemalan cloth . . . at PUTNAM AND RAGGETT, on Ocean. Nothing could be more appropriate for the Centennial — more lovely any time. You can whip up practically anything—for the house, for yourself—from these dramatic materials. It takes just a yard and a half to make a gay dirndl skirt. The colors and patterns are especially dashing and different. There is really no use trying to do them justice in words but, naturally, you'll be going in to look them over and be completely captivated . . . For these cool nights California is so proud of — entrancing, little flannelette nightgowns and pajamas—white, blue, or pink—ruffled necks with eyelet trim!

The Casa Munras Senoritas! . . . the new dance band at the CASA MUNRAS HOTEL AND COTTAGES, in Monterey! Four musical maids from Occidental College who are going to spend their summer vacation playing for the guests at CASA MUNRAS—Pat Horrell, Marylyn Mayland, Martha Brockett and Carolyn Adams . . . Beginning Tuesday, July 2nd, CASA MUNRAS will have dinner dancing for the Centennial six nights a week—every night except Sunday . . . Join the fun for dinner and dancing in the famous Patio Room some night soon!

SAVO skirts for the Centennial! . . . And fun to wear any time! Gala, dramatic, artful! Treat yourself to a lovely, natural-toned, Mexican handwoven popelino with handblocked or handpainted designs done by the hands of artists —Joan and George SAVO. Anything the SAVOS touch turns—not to gold, but—to beauty, with their permanently and superbly handpainted designs . . . See the cotton print skirts, too. One darling in red and white plaid with rickrack trim . . . And, really individual, midriff outfits in white twill with bold, gay red apples splashed in colorful, eye-catching abandon! If you want something different and beautiful, go on up to the SAVO GARRET SHOP, upstairs on the corner of Ocean at Monte Verde. The SAVOS are magicians!

A man's Centennial! . . . For the men, to go with the new beards and sideburns they're sporting . . . Western Frontier Shirts . . . At DEREK RAYNE'S, on Ocean, these shirts have been long-awaited in Carmel, tan, black, purple, navy, wine gabardine with pearl buttons and contrasting binding on the slashed pockets. Pardner, these duds are really something! Swell riding shirts after you've worn them for the Centennial . . . Vaquero ties for your get-up, too—polka-dots, plaids, plain — blues, reds . . . Senor, they are reminiscent of the fine old pioneer days of a hundred years ago when beautiful Senoritas and handsome Dons paraded the old Alvarado . . . The DEREK RAYNE, Shop for Men.

Bill Burke says, "This is the season for Barbecues! . . . First, you get the meat and we have nothing to do about that! All that's up to you. Now we come into the picture . . . Portable barbecue grills — charcoal, long-handled knives and forks and plastic dishes in colors, small portable ice boxes, vacuum jugs and gasoline lanterns. That's all for us. You pick out your picnic or barbecue grounds and get going. CARMEL HARDWARE, on Dolores, will be glad to help you. Of course, if you want to have a Spanish Barbecue, all you have to have is a jug of wine —vino! (No meat.)"

Your new personality! . . . With your gay clothes for the Centennial and the rest of the summer, you'll feel like a new woman. Look like one, too, with Helena Rubinstein's Heavenly Glow Make-up . . . at STANIFORD'S DRUG STORE, Ocean and San Carlos . . . Matching Lipstick, Rouge and Nail Lacquer in the clear, brilliant real, red you've been looking for —thrilling! Face Powder and Cream Tint Fountation — a sunkissed, golden tone . . . Glamorous, blue eye shadow and mascara. Here is your exciting new face—tuned to the summer mood . . . And, of course, you'll want an eventful perfume to carry out the theme . . . Rubinstein's White Flame—suggesting hidden, intense fire . . . Most exotic! Unforgettable! This exciting scent comes in cream compact form as well as liquid. You know how very lasting these new cream perfumes are—just a little rubbed behind your ears and on your wrists envelops you in fragrance—so handy to carry in your purse! . . . You'll really be delighted with the Rubinstein Heavenly Glow Make-up and White Flame Perfume. Stop in at STANIFORD'S and see for yourself . . . A new you for the happy days ahead!

More summer, playtime clothes at MAXINE'S, on Dolores . . . A three piece Shantung outfit that manages to be neat, practical and stunning all at the same time! The blouse has raglan sleeves and a yoked front—the skirt is yoked, too, front pleated and buttons all the way down so that you can shed it easily to show off the smart long shorts! White, Kelly green, salmon, cocoa or lime . . . Or how about slacks and matching shorts and a long-sleeved blouse, that can be used with many outfits—floral stripes, chartreuse, blue, yellow and white in the blouse with the brown "underpinnings" or cerise, black, royal and powder blue with the black shorts and slacks.

Popular! . . . Practically everyone who comes into Edith Griffin's VILLAGE BOOK SHOP, on Ocean above Dolores, these days heads for the section devoted to Carmel and California authors and books. The variety of interesting books written in or about this part of the country is most intriguing. From 50c up . . . Plenty of revised and corrected editions of the Monterey Peninsula Guide, too long out of print, available just in time for the Centennial. Copies of "Sunset Homes for Western Living"—200 pictures and 60 floor plans. Many out-of-print items like "Gold Rush" —the journal and drawings of J. G. Bruff, topographer — two volumns —edited by Read and Gaines.

Mexican jewelry for the Centennial! . . . at JOYCE'S, on Ocean. Made by native craftsmen to enhance your loveliness . . . Necklaces, bracelets, earrings, pins and rings—Heavy silver with skillful designs—plain or set with black obsidian or mystic, green jade carved with the faces of ancient gods. One unusually beautiful necklace of silver and smoky amethysts . . . A varied selection of other handmade jewelry, too, set with jade and carnelian . . . Silver tie clips and other items in Western patterns for the men . . . at JOYCE'S.

Scoop! . . . The H. L. FRISBIE FURNITURE STORE presents the revival of a lost art . . . Pictures modeled in beeswax . . . Undaunted at finding no records on the method for doing this work, Mrs. Louise E. Clark, of Carmel, succeeded in perfecting beeswax pictures in bas relief. In specially sealed frames, they are delicate and beautiful . . . One is a Dutch woman with bits of real lace, seed pearls and beads. Another, a sure-fire hit for a man's den, a tiger—with teeth, bristles and green glass eyes — very realistic! Note the striking wax portrait of Sylvia Sydney with a red plumed hat. In still another, a nun holds a tiny book which, under close scrutiny, reveals illuminated pages . . . These modern revivals of a charming art from the middle ages at the H. L. FRISBIE FURNITURE STORE, on Dolores.

Models of the sailing ships of a hundred years ago! . . . MODELS AND HOBBIES, Junipero near 6th, have all kinds of ship models, assembled or ready to assemble. Airplane and railroad supplies, accessories. "Have fun while relaxing!" Make a belt, or other items, of tooled leather, like that worn when the U. S. Flag went up over Monterey in 1846. MODEL AND HOBBIES display in the Carmel Hardware window, on Dolores, skins, tools, leathercraft instruction book. A model of The Bounty, famous pirate ship. Watch for a new display soon.

I'd love to spend a small fortune — or even a large one!—buying the lovely, luxurious things at THE SILVER THIMBLE, on Dolores . . . Beautiful you at bedtime! . . . Bed jackets and nightgowns so luscious you'll feel like a movie star in your boudoir . . . For example, a chic white taffeta bed jacket—quilted—lined in soft pink satin—fit for an angel . . . A svelte white satin nightgown with creamy, ecrue French lace binding the sweetheart neckline — so beguiling . . . A bit more practical, but every bit as smart, are the printed cotton housecoats — distinctive patterns in red and blue trimmed with white. You can just live in one of these around the house — washable, comfortable nicely tailored . . . Those little half-slips you've been looking for are available in white satin or in pink crepe.

Leather sandals and huaraches for happy little feet! . . . at HELEN'S JUVENILE SHOP, on Ocean . . . From size two up . . . White sandals. Huaraches in green and red or blue and red woven through the natural leather—handmade in Mexico . . . Perfect with the youngster's Centennial costumes and for the rest of the summer . . . Many gay, little peasant-type dresses that the youngest Senoritas can wear festively next week and feel dressed-up in any time . . . Small, felt, flowered bandeaux for their hair to complete the picture.

Let us have music! . . . And news and drama! . . . J. H. GLEDHILL'S RADIO AND APPLIANCE SHOP, on Dolores near 7th, has a new stock of small radios—just right for graduation or other gifts—or for various spots in your own home . . . Record changers too, the kind that you attach to your own radio . . . A brand new floor polisher, for rent by the day, and a complete line of Johnson's waxes—beautiful, gleaming floors in a jiffy! . . . By the way, GLEDHILL'S have an eight hour radio repair service!

Centennial costumes for the small fry! . . . Youngsters love to dress up! Your children will be crazy about the new cowboy and cowgirl outfits at THE PIONEER, netx to the Post Office. For little girls—vests and skirts, fringed at the bottom—black leather with red suede trimming or red leather with black suede trimming . . . For your boy, vests and chaps in russet brown suede with beige sheepskin trimming — sheepskin cutout horseshoe designs on the chaps. To complete the outfit, a gun with leather holster to match and, or, a whistle! Take a look at these really distinctive outfits on display at THE PIONEER, on Dolores next to the Post Office . . . "Hi, ho, Silver, away!"

Over-the-shoulder bags . . . so smart, sturdy and convenient . . . Featured at ARDEES LEATHER SHOP, on Dolores near 7th. They come in navy, red or luggage-tan pigskin — one in brown lizard, beautiful!—and styled like those the WAC officers used to carry. Stitched, leather-lined, adjustable straps and each has a lock and key to insure safety. Another type of over-the-shoulder bag in cowhide is lovely, too . . . Dressier handbags in lizard, alligator, python—glorious colors, a range of styling. See them and you'll buy one—ARDEES, on Dolores.

Roger and Gallet! . . . magic name in toiletries, regretably scarce these last few years, now back in circulation with a bang —and in a cloud of heavenly fragrances . . . FORTIER'S DRUG STORE, on Ocean, is featuring a big new selection of Roger and Gallet products. Colognes, toilet waters, sachets, talcums and soap, soap, soap—bath size, face size, guest or traveling size! From Paris and New York, the lasting, lovely scents—OEillet Bleu (Blue Carnation)—Bois de Santal(Sandalwood) — Lavender — Fleurs d' Amour (Flowers of Love) — Violette — Night of Delight — Le Jade — OEillet-Mignardise (Carnation). You who have used Roger and Gallet toiletries will be delighted to renew acquaintance with your favorites. Any of you who have not tried them have a treat in store! At FORTIER'S!

THE ANNA KATZ DRESS SHOP, on Ocean, has a new face! . . . clean, fresh white paint, blue wallpaper, gay chintz, frilled white curtains. Exciting new stock on the way, too, as a result of Miss Katz' New York trip! Her present summer line will steal your heart . . . Softly tailored dresses in the Centennial mood with Mexican motif patterns — vibrant tones of blue, cerise, green, maize and purple on white Shantung — note one cathedral town design. Or frankly fiesta-minded peasant skirts and blouses. A variety of summer cottons — checks, plaids, prints. Darling Mother and Daughter dresses — amusing birds in gray, red and black on white — fetching ruffled necklines and sleeves. Supbebly tailored wool suits and coats. So many beguiling little hats. How I would love the silk print dress—white background with the bright, sophisticated pattern — a very Vogueish damsel wearing an exotic feather headress!

Find out about the new stock at THE COVERED WAGON, on Dolores . . . Handbeaten aluminum trays—so popular for gifts. Envelope purses—handwoven in the mountains of Northern Georgia — typical of the Appalachian section —colors or all white. Phyllis Lester pottery—one particularly striking serving plate in powder blue and chartreuse. Valley pottery—dishes, bowls, cigarette sets. A whole batch of enchanting little animal figurines — "Porky," the pig — "Iski," the giraffe — "Innocent," the fawn — "Pewey and Pewette," the skunks, and many others Tablecloths and napkins in cotton damask — assorted colors and designs — made right at THE COVERED WAGON!

Lions' Party

About 80 Lions and their ladies attended the annual Lions Ladies' night party at the Mission ranch Tuesday night. Dinner in the banquet room was followed by dancing at the Barn.

Entertainment consisted in community singing of the gay nineties songs, with two solo numbers by Art Plaxton, My Wild Irish Rose and When Irish Eyes are Smiling, dedicated to the out-going president, Robert O'Brien. In a brief business meeting following dinner, newly elected officers were installed: president, Fred Goss, Vice president, Ernest Morehouse, secretary, Bob Weaver, Lion tamer, Art Plaxton, tail twister, Mike Balaz, directors, Fred Decker and Alfred Fry. Plans were made for the annual family barbecue at the Murphy Ranch, July 4.

Dr. Sparks Buys Practice

Dr. Francis H. Sparks, chiropractic physician, who for many years has practiced in the Beverly Hills section, and most recently in the Toluca Lake community of No. Hollywood, has just recently taken over the practice of Dr. Harry H. Huntington and the late Dr. Grant Phillips, here in Carmel. His offices will be in the same location on Dolores near Ocean.

Dr. Sparks is a graduate of the Ratledge College in Los Angeles, where for some time he served on the faculty. His post graduate studies have been at the Southern California Chiropractic College and completed extensive research study with the famous nutritionist and bio-chemist Dr. Pierre Boncquet, utilizing the latest and most advanced clinical and laboratory findings pertaining to the use of amino-acids and proteins and their relationship to disease.

In addition, Dr. Sparks has been specializing in radionic therapy for many years.

Report on Hawaii Centennial

Lorraine Stoops is back again in Carmel after covering 6,305 miles in three weeks. She flew by Clipper to Hawaii. On her return to the States she flew to Portland, a side trip to Timberline Lodge, then back to San Francisco.

Mrs. Stoops was in Hawaii during the centennial celebration of the completion of Washington Palace, official residence during the reign of Hawaiian Monarchy to the present day democratic government.

Governor and Mrs. Stainback held open house during the three day celebration.

The statue of King Kamehameha I, great warrior king, was covered in exquisite flower leis and one day was in special observance for Queen Liliuokalani, beloved ruler of her people and composer of Aloha Oe.

Mrs. Stoops describes the flight as lovely, the celebration as fantastically beautiful with its riot of color in flowers and costumes, Island music, dances and the charm of the people.

NEW BOOKS...

BRITANNIA MEWS
by Margery Sharp
With this novel Margery Sharp surpasses her own record for warmhearted, entertainment stories. She has used her light touch, her gentle wisdom about human nature, not in a comedy but in a sympathetic chronicle of a life spanning three generations. 2.75

TWO WORLDS
by William B. Ziff
This book is for those who are willing to face the hard realities of the world today in which there are only two great powers — the U. S. A. and the U. S. S. R. Neither a dreamer nor a pessimist, the author presents both a clear and disquieting analysis of present conditions and an important solution to the problem of our survival 3.00

HONG KONG HOLIDAY
by Emily Hahn
As a newspaperwoman, Miss Hahn was on the spot to witness the great events that have transfigured China in the last decade. As an adopted member of a Chinese family, and an intimate of the famous Soong sisters, she saw these things in terms of their human relations. 2.75

GUMBO YA-YA
by Saxon, Tallant and Dreyer
A collection of Louisiana Folk Tales . . . Here are stories that make New Orleans a legend among cities — THE SULU PARADE, THE MACABRE NIGHT OF THE AXEMAN'S JAZZ, THE NEDDLE MEN AND THE IRISH CHANNEL. 5.00

ROBERT E. LEE IN TEXAS
by Carl Coke Rister
This book introduces a little known phase of the great General's career — his service in Texas during the four turbulent years just preceding the Civil War. We see through the eyes of the "Academy man" the raw life on the frontier and hear from his lips his impressions of the country and people. 2.50

EDMUND CAMPION
by Evelyn Waugh
Edmund Campion was one of the Jesuit priests executed for his faith under Queen Elizabeth. He began his life as a Protestant, enjoying Court favor, with every prospect of a brilliant career in the new Church of England. Women Voters Annual Meeting

Invitation to be guests at her home at the Big Sur for a September program was extended by Mrs. Carl L. Voss to the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula at the annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon, and was unanimously accepted. Mrs. Voss was a member of the organization when first organized here as Monterey County League, has served as president and then director, and has taken part in all its activities.

Annual reports and election of officers before the summer recess occupied the members after they had enjoyed a picnic lunch on the terrace and the lawn at the flower-surrounded home of Miss Lydia Weld on Carmel Point. Elected for next year are Mrs. Carl Hisgen, president; Miss Lydia Weld, first vice-president; Mrs. Thor Hellum, second vice-president; Mrs. L. O. Kellogg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bruce Spencer, recording secretary; Mrs. Peter Ferrante, treasurer; Mrs. Perry Newberry, Mrs. J. P. Sandholdt, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, directors.

Reports of the year's activities were made by Mrs. J. M. Rigdon, Miss Agnes Shand, Miss Orre Haseltine, Mrs. Blanchard Steeves and Mrs. Grigsby, retiring president. Mrs. Rigdon also reported on the meeting in Berkeley early this month which was addressed by the National president, Miss Anna Lord Strauss, and Miss L. Lucile Turner told of the proceedings at the state convention in Los Angeles in May. Mrs. Grigsby announced the national board's need for more funds than afforded by national dues, to meet the expense of the greatly expanded program of research into the important questions facing the nation today and publication of the information obtained for the benefit of all citizens in convenient pamphlets and bulletins.

unloading, amid loud cheers from bystanders. The food was arranged on the bar, drinks were on the house, and the opening was a success.

To interest Centennial visitors, the Carmel Art Association has arranged to lend paintings by local artists to Carmel business houses and hotels for exhibit during the four-day festival. Paintings are from the gallery's loan collection and are, for the most part, of local scenes. The gallery will remain open, as usual, with its current exhibits.

Tidepool enthusiasts will be glad to know that there will be another low tide on Saturday and Sunday mornings. Tomorrow's will be at 4:42 a.m. and the tide will be 1:09. On Sunday, the tide will be the same with the time one hour later. This tide is almost as low as that of a month ago, with there being a difference of only .03. That tide was the lowest here in 18 years, and collectors took advantage of it to obtain many rare specimens of marine life. Sea life treasures await the early riser, and a trip to the shore tomorrow or Sunday will pay dividends for amateur and professional alike.

The month of June has been unusually lovely, with little fog and gentle, sunny days. However, being long acquainted with the vagaries of Peninsula weather, we hasten to suggest that members of the Centennial committees keep their fingers crossed from now until midnight of July 7. Some of them may not be aware of the ancient Spanish curse upon the City of Monterey, and this curse still may be in effect. It seems that, many years ago, a gentleman who had come to Monterey, was beset with misfortune. He blamed his ill luck upon the town and the people who lived there. He finally made up his mind to leave the place and, as he rode away, he looked back, saying, "Monterey shall never show its fairest face to the stranger."

St. John's Chapel
Del Monte

The Rev. Theodore Bell
Chaplain

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day long. Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded.

Sunday services at eight and eleven a.m. The Chapel is close to Hotel Del Monte.

Public Invited To Attend Recital By Evans Students

The public is invited to attend an afternoon of music by the pupils of Emma Evans at the Carmel high school music room, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The program includes several two-piano selections with Mrs. Evans at the second piano. It is well balanced, made up of the works of Bach and Beethoven, Chopin Tschaikowsky, Moszkowski and modern composers.

Participating will be Tatiana Srsen, Penny Bestor, John Bartowick, Cherrill Vanderploeg, Ann Marie Tanous, Charles May, Patty Finley, Donnalee Paul, Joan Burk, Eleanor Taggart, Barbara Keller, Joan Ward, Carol Ann Smith and Jill Murray.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-serman for June 30th, with the Golden Text from Isaiah: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price" (55:1).

Included in the sermon are these citations:

John 14:1: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me."

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Science is an emanation of divine Mind and is alone able to interpret God aright. It has a spritual, and not a material origin. It is a divine utterance, — the Comforter which leadeth into all truth" (p. 127).

BOX G-1

New York, New York
June 19, 1946

Egad, Wilma dear, what a hornet's nest! Could you see to it that Mrs. Matheny (Pine Needles, June 14th issue rebuttal to my castigation-excoriation of New York) receives this special section below which I hasten to write.

To Mrs. Matheny:

Perhaps, Mrs. Matheny, you are right about New York, being a New Yorker, and I on my part should feel righteously indignant at similar criticism of Carmel. All city-dwellers find the "pulse and tempo of vigorous living", the assorted smells, soot and noise a splendid tonic, no doubt. But to one imbued with a vast nostalgia for fresh air redolent of sea and pine, for peace and quiet, for the privilege of walking at one's leisure to uncrowded village restaurants and movie houses, New York is anathema. My husband is a New Yorker but spent ample time in Carmel to find that it's pulse is steadier and healthier by far than New York City's. And the subway is a most unpleasant substitute for the charming strolls to all points of local interest such as are to be found in Carmel. Your city children's playgrounds are dirty, glass-filled gutters and streets where they must dodge trucks, taxis and vehicles propelled by speed demons who use the auto horn in place of discretion and care.

Of course it is highly stimulating here, especially to tourists who can escape, and to New Yorkers who naturally love the pace and the maddening throngs. But it is honestly a case of "chaqu'un a son gout", isn't it, Mrs. Matheny?

— Katie Ruster

Ed.'s note—

Mrs. Ruster has an ally in Salinas. The editor of the Salinas Californian says in his column in issue of June 20:

"Three weeks in the sweltering east gives the writer inspiration for this bit of gossip about things in general. We lack a sufficient quantity of adjectives to describe the turmoil, push and sweat of the multitudes who live in Washington, New York, Detroit and Chicago. There aren't enough words in our vocabulary to describe the millions of people shoving through the streets at Times Square, or those seeking to peer over the edge of the 96th story of the Empire State building, or to see Radio City and the Rockettes.

"One gets more used than ever before to fish and chicken at $3 per plate, or to crowded hotels where bell hops receive more in a day in tips than most of the executives who puff and huff for service. The busses are crowded, taxis are plentiful although shaky and rattly and squeaky with age. Fares are reasonable if you can get aboard. The subways stink and a white shirt is white only until 10 a.m. There are oodles of stores, crowded to the hilt, the same kind of meat and bread and hosiery lines, women clawing and screeching at the gum chewing blonds and brunettes who are laughingly known as sales ladies!"

Three Grass Fires Bring Out State Forestry Crews

The fire in Beartrap Canyon, Bixby Creek, which covered some 15 acres, was brought under control at noon Wednesday, State Forestry division officials stated. A patrol was left guarding the area yesterday, on land owned by Charles Vander Ploegg. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Two other fires brought out fire suppression crews: one at San Clemente, which was started by burning trash, and another at Mal Paso Creek, which was believed to have been started by a carelessly thrown cigarette. Neither blaze did any damage.

J. W. Conroy

Jim W. Conroy, a resident of Carmel for the past year, died Tuesday evening as a result of a heart attack. He was 47 years of age, and a native of Iowa.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Suzanne Conroy of Carmel; a son, James W. Conroy of Minneapolis, and a daughter, Jean Conroy of Iowa. Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of the son and daughter. The T. A. Dorney funeral chapel is in charge.

Mrs. Mary Otto

Mrs. Mary R. Otto, 81, died in her sleep at a Pacific Grove rest home Wednesday morning.

For the past ten years she has lived from time to time in Carmel with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Otto.

She was born in Peterboro, spent her youth in Burlington, Iowa and has been a resident of California for 36 years.

She was a member of the Christian Science Church in Pacific Grove.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Otto, she is survived by her grandson Eric, her sister, Mrs. Anna Adams of Burlington, Iowa, and two brothers Robert Renfrew, Tucson, Arizona, and John Renfrew, North Hollywood.

STRAN STEEL

Illustrations and conversations about a product are fine for provoking your interest . . . but to be convinced of its merits, you want to see it.

You have probably read and heard many interesting facts about the Stran-Steel "Quonset 20," the war-proved all-steel building. If so, you'll be glad to know that one of these all-purpose structures has been erected locally. It is now ready for your inspection.

Twenty feet wide by any length you desire, in sections of twelve feet, the "Quonset 20" is adaptable to hundreds of farm and industrial uses. Economical to buy, erect and maintain, it will provide you with a permanent building —fire-safe, and free from weather and rodent deterioration. Why not inspect it today? Then see us for details and prices.

Stran-Steel "Quonset" buildings are products of Stran-Steel Division, Great Lakes Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation
